DETAILED ACTION

1. In response to the communications dated 10/14/2003, claims 1-2, 4-16 are active in this application as a result of the addition of claims 11-16 and the cancellation of claims 3.

Remarks

2. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-2, and 4-16 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claim(s) 1-2, and 4-16 is/are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claims 1 and 2, the limitation(s) "a semiconductor active backplane including an array of addressable active elements ... for selectively energizing respective first electrodes of the array" is/are not clearly defined and distinctly pointed out the subject matter which is/are claimed as the Applicant's invention. It is vague of how the array of active elements energize electrodes of themselves?

Regarding claims 7 and 8, the limitation(s) "a semiconductor active backplane including an array of addressable active elements ... for energizing respective first electrodes" is/are not clearly defined and distinctly pointed out the subject matter which is/are claimed as the Application's invention. Are the respective electrodes included in the backplane? Are they part of the active elements or are they separated from the active elements and/or the backplane?

Claim 4-6, 9-16 depend from rejected claims 1-2 and 7-8 and include all of the limitations of claims 1-2 and 7-8 thereby rendering these dependent claims indefinite.

Claim Rejections - 35 U.S.C. § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 2818

6. Claim(s) 7-8, and 12-13 is/are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103 (a) as being unpatentable over U.S. Patent No. 6,570,550 to Handschy et al., in view of the following remarks.

Regarding claims 7 and 8, Handschy discloses a semiconductor active backplane, as shown in figures 1-4, including an array of addressable active elements 46 on a semiconductor substrate 40 for energizing respective first electrodes, and first and second orthogonal sets of addressing conductors 52, 54 in the form of a metallic conductor, a respective pair of addressing conductors 52, 54, one from each set, being associated with the addressing of a corresponding active element. see figures 1, 3, and 4, and column 8, line 23 to column 9, line 23.

Handschy does not explicitly discuss that substantially the whole of each active element 46 is covered by at least one, or a pair of the addressing conductors 52, 54.

However, it would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to modify the invention of Handschy so that all or either of the addressing conductors, or bit lines and word lines 52, 54 being formed to cover the whole of each active element, because those skilled in the art will recognize that such modification and variations can be made without departing from the spirit of the invention of Handschy, and that such modification involve only routine skills in the art; Furthermore, such formation(s) is/are very well known in the art.

Regarding claims 12 and 13, Handschy discloses the backplane wherein the array of active elements is covered by an insulating layer, each said active element being connected to a metal electrode on said insulating layer, the array of said metal electrodes thus formed covering more than 65% of the are of said array. See figures 1, 3.

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claim(s) 1-2, 4-6, 9-11, and 14-16 would be allowed if rewritten to overcome the rejection under 35 USC § 112 and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reason for the indication of allowable subject matter:

Claim(s) 1-2, 4-6, 9-11, and 14-16 is/are considered allowable since the prior made of record and considered pertinent to the applicant's disclosure does not teach or suggest the claimed semiconductor active backplane wherein a depletion region is formed in part of the region beneath at least one of the electrodes of the array, and at least one charge trapping implant is provided adjacent but spaced apart from the depletion region (claim 1), or a guard ring is provided over or around the periphery of the depletion region to prevent or hinder charge carriers from crossing between the depletion region and the rest of the substrate (claim 2).

Conclusion

8. A shortened statutory period for response to this action is set to expire 3 (three) months and 0 (zero) day from the day of this letter. Failure to respond within the period for response will cause the application to become abandoned (see M.P.E.P 710.02(b)).
